

Walgreens Boots Alliance Set to Join Dow Jones Industrial Average

NEW YORK, June 19, 2018: Walgreens Boots Alliance Inc. (NASD:WBA) will replace General Electric Co. (NYSE:GE) in the Dow Jones Industrial Average (DJIA) effective prior to the open of trading on Tuesday, June 26.

“General Electric was an original member of the DJIA in 1896 and a member continuously since 1907,” says David Blitzer, Managing Director and Chairman of the index committee at S&P Dow Jones Indices. “Since then the U.S. economy has changed: consumer, finance, health care and technology companies are more prominent today and the relative importance of industrial companies is less. Walgreens is a national retail drug store chain offering prescription and non-prescription drugs, related health services and general goods. With its addition, the DJIA will be more representative of the consumer and health care sectors of the U.S. economy. Today’s change to the DJIA will make the index a better measure of the economy and the stock market.”

The DJIA is a price-weighted index, and the range of prices among its 30 constituents matter. The low price of GE shares means the company has a weight in the index of less than one-half of one percentage point. Walgreens Boots Alliance’s share price is higher, and it will contribute more meaningfully to the index. It will also help the index better represent the U.S. market and economy. Walgreens Boots Alliance, which is headquartered in Deerfield, IL, operates as a pharmacy-led health and wellbeing company.

The change won’t disrupt the level of the index. The divisor used to calculate the index from the components’ prices on their respective home exchanges will be changed prior to the opening on June 26. This procedure prevents any distortion in the index’s reflection of the portion of the U.S. stock market it is designed to measure.
